COMPANY PROFILE

Antonio Calloni founded CALLONI SRL over 50 years ago, initially producing Oxy-Acetylene Cutting, Welding Torches and Regulators, which are still manufactured today. Soon after, the production of modified bitumen membranes used for waterproofing began in the town of Concorezzo. CALLONI SRL was contacted to design and produce equipment that would be used to install these products. We produced the first equipment shortly thereafter and have consistently developed and improved our products to suit the requirements of installers and the marketplace.

Our product range was designed to provide quality torches with safety as a priority.

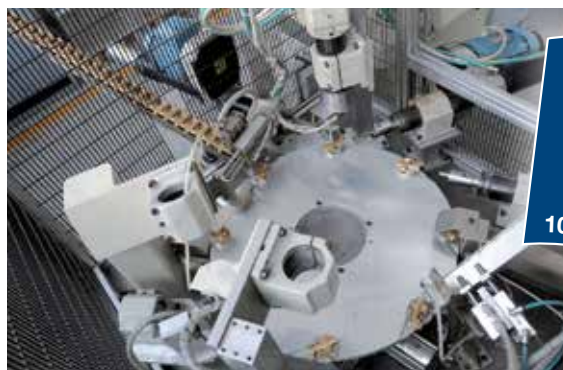

Our range has been designed with utmost attention to safety and the environment, along with consideration for ergonomics and noise levels.

We are justly proud of our manufacturing capabilities. Every day around the world thousands of quality conscious roofing contractors use our Original Calloni Torches.

So we look forward to supplying your requirements for quality torches.
